FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

My Dear Parishioners,

St. Paul's words of thanksgiving and praise encouraged the Thessalonians and form a valuable lesson for each of us.

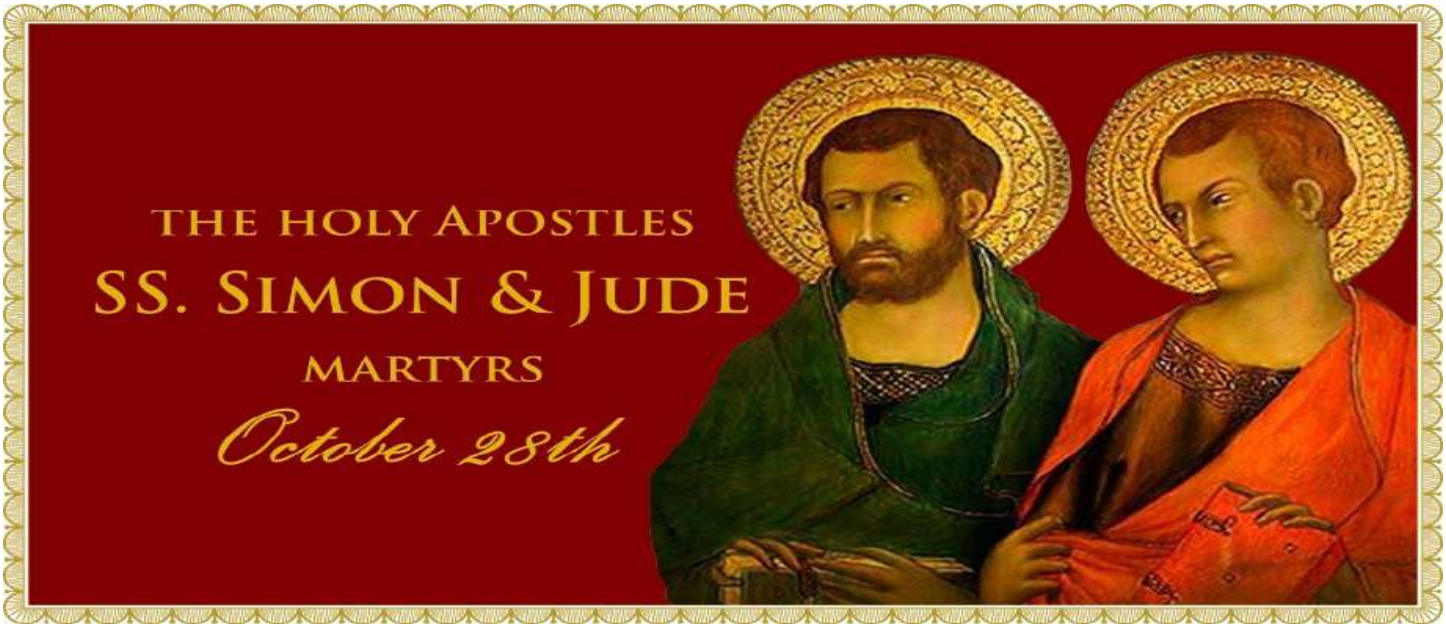
First of all, Paul calls to mind their work of faith. Having heard the Gospel of Christ, they began the arduous work of coming to know and live faith in Christ. Clearly, those who are new to the faith, have much to learn. We might think for example of the people in the RCIA process in our parish and throughout the whole Church. They have much to learn about the faith so they meet on a regular bases to pray, share, and learn. However, what about those of us who have been part of the Church for many years or even an entire lifetime? The work of faith formation is not finished. Working in faith means we need to continue to form and nurture our faith through study, enrichment, and faith sharing. We can find opportunities to grow in faith by reading Catholic publications, through adult faith formation offered by our parish or diocese, and by being part of a small faith sharing group. How deserving of praise we will be if we work in faith!

Secondly, Paul praises their ability to labor in love. Paul was literally run out of the city by some of its citizens. Jesus faced the same basic hostility from the Pharisees in today's Gospel. Laboring in love means that we live our faith expecting resistance-resistance to conversion in ourselves, resistance to conversion from others in the world. When we encounter such resistance, we do not become bitter or give in to pessimism; we do not give up. We work with love toward conversation of self and others. How deserving of praise we will be if we labor in love!

Thirdly, Paul commends the Thessalonians for their endurance in hope. When we endure in hope, we look beyond obvious solutions or apparent problems to see possibilities we cannot readily see at first. For example, who would have guessed that a pagan king, Cyrus, would be moved by God to set our ancestors free from captivity in Babylon? Who would have guessed that a non-believer would be an instrument for salvation, for our ancestors to show greater faithfulness than even some of their own kings? The Pharisees in the Gospel see allegiance to God or to Caesar as the only two viable options. However, Jesus sees beyond this apparently hopeless entrapment to reveal that the decision is not either God or Caesar; rather, the decision is both God and Caesar, and we can give to each what is one's own.

To Caesar, to legitimate civil authority, belongs our worldly allegiance. To God belongs our whole selves and everything else besides. Therefore, we have a duty to respect, care for, and serve appropriately the world that God gives us. At the same time, we must trust the Spirit of God enough to have spiritual goals in line with the kingdom of God. Like the Thessalonians, how deserving of praise we will be when we all work in faith, labor in love, and endure in hope.

All God's Blessings,
Msgr. Maresca



Very little is known about these two Apostles, other than what is briefly mentioned about them in the New Testament, and even that is a little confusing. They are both listed among the Twelve whom Jesus names Apostles: Matthew 10:2-4; Mark 3:16-19; Luke 6:13-16; Acts 1:13. Today's Simon is not Simon Peter, but is referred to as "Simon the Cananean". This name does not refer to the Land of Canaan, but is a translation of an Aramaic word meaning "zealous." Jesus chose a variety of different people as His Apostles. Perhaps the most stark contrast is found between Simon the Zealot and Matthew the tax collector. As a zealot, Simon would have been very committed to his Jewish identity and would have been firmly opposed to Roman taxation. He would have had an aversion to Matthew who served the Romans by collecting taxes for them from the Jews. The fact that Jesus did not choose like-minded Apostles shows His inclusion of all people. . He was not bound by cultural ties, ideologies, or social classes. He was interested in all people, those of every background and experience, and His Apostles reveal that fact. Jesus might have chosen Simon because He wanted to reach out to those who were firmly committed to their Jewish heritage, traditions, and beliefs, and Simon was able to reach those people. Jude is referred to as "Judas son of James" (Luke and Acts) and "Thaddeus" (Matthew and Mark). The only other reference that is certain about Jude comes from John's Gospel during the Last Supper in which Jude is referred to as "Judas, not the Iscariot…"(John 14:22). During the Last Supper, Jesus instructed His Apostles that He would soon be leaving them, but they should have courage and wait for the Holy Spirit. Jude, expressing a bit of confusion, asked Jesus, "Master, [then] what happened that you will reveal yourself to us and not to the world?" In other words, Jude was asking Jesus why He doesn't just manifest His divinity to everyone, in a clear and convincing way, so that they will all believe in Him. Jesus' answer is mysterious, but He essentially points out that belief in Him must come by the inspired gift of faith, and that obedience to that faith, and to the will of God, will result in divine union. There is also a reference in two of the Gospels identifying Simon and Jude as Jesus' brothers: "Is he not the carpenter's son? Is not his mother named Mary and his brothers James, Joseph, Simon, and Judas?" (Matthew 13:55; Mark 6:3). Most scholars today believe these two are not the same as the Apostles, but are cousins of Jesus. It was custom at that time to refer to one's cousin as brother or sister. It is possible that the Judas identified as Jesus' brother is the author of the Epistle of Jude in the New Testament, rather than the Apostle. However, that point is debated and even Pope Benedict XVI in 2006 pointed to the tradition that the Epistle of Jude was, indeed, written by the Apostle. If that's the case, then it might be that these two Judes are one and the same. Regarding their deaths, nothing is known other than unreliable sources, such as the Passion of Simon and Jude, and other fourth-century and later sources. One of the most common traditions is that Simon and Jude traveled to Persia to preach the Gospel and were both killed there in the year 65. Simon is traditionally believed to have been sawn in half, and Jude is traditionally believed to have been beaten with a club. They often appear in sacred art holding the instruments of their deaths. The Epistle that has been traditionally attributed to Saint Jude the Apostle is a short but passionate letter in which he warns all Christians against immorality and heresy trying to enter the early Church. Tradition states that because Jude shared a name with Judas Iscariot, the betrayer, Saint Jude's intercession was rarely sought. However, after the intercession of every other Apostle and saint was sought, people in the early Church would turn to Saint Jude as their last hope. There are many ancient traditions holding that Saint Jude has provided many miracles throughout the centuries.

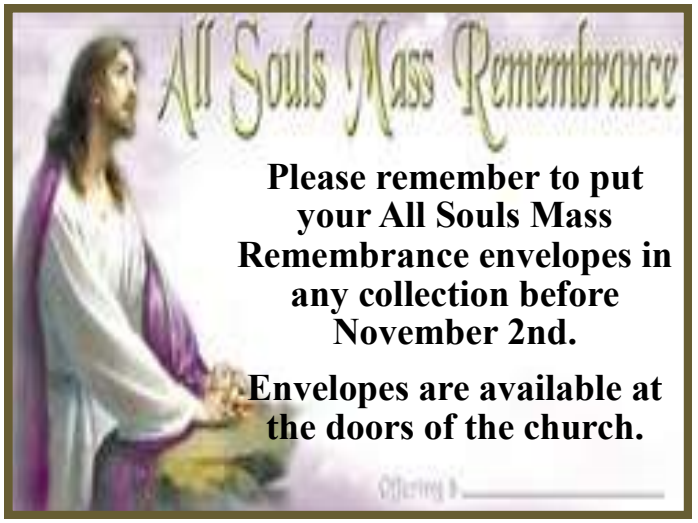
Parish Mission Statement

St. Francis of Assisi Parish is a Catholic community that is centered in Jesus, gathers in worship and witnesses the Gospel message. The parish values and welcomes each person's gift of time, talent and treasure. As a faith-filled community, we are committed to minister to the spiritual, educational and material needs of all people.

Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament takes place before the 9:00AM Mass. The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed at 8:00AM each morning, Monday through Saturday, giving parishioners an opportunity for private prayer before the Lord in the Blessed Sacrament. At 8:30AM the rosary will be prayed by parishioners before the Blessed Sacrament. At 8:50AM the Blessed Sacrament will be reposed. Jesus calls us to perseverance in prayer. "Pray without ceasing." "Watch and pray." Eucharistic adoration helps us discover the Real Presence of Christ.

What a wonderful way to begin our day praying before the Blessed Sacrament in silence or praying the Holy Rosary.

Please make every effort to take advantage of this time with the Lord. We are living in challenging times and we all need the Lord to strengthen our faith and give us the courage to live each day.



Please remember to put your All Souls Mass Remembrance envelopes in any collection before November 2nd.

Envelopes are available at the doors of the church.

On this last day of the Congress, we will be commissioned to go out into the world as missionary disciples as we enter the third year of the National Eucharistic Revival: the Year of Mission.
